"CP is quite bright this morning, walks around the house, went down to breakfast, ate with kitchen sisters, went in the front room, sat & conversed a while more than common for him. He then got Henry B. to take him to the NF. He there was taken worse, & in the evening we heard that they thought he would die. He continued in distress till about 10 p.m. when his spirit took its flight to a better world than this, where pain & sorrow cannot come."
